

REOPEN OLD POLICE STATION

City Authorities Respond to Complaints of Poor Protection.

Mayor Harrison has issued orders for the reopening of the old Lake street police station as a result of complaints of poor police protection in the Twenty-eighth precinct. Carpenters and steamfitters will go to work Monday and it is expected that in two weeks the station will be ready. Since the station was closed its territory has been policed by men from the Desplains street and Warren avenue stations.