

POLICE WILL DROP PLAN TO CHANGE DESIGN OF STARS

Chicago Daily Tribune (1923-1963); Jan 16, 1954;

ProQuest Historical Newspapers: Chicago Tribune (1849-1990)

pg. 5

POLICE WILL DROP PLAN TO CHANGE DESIGN OF STARS

Police Commissioner O'Connor said yesterday that he had dropped the idea of changing the design of the Chicago police star because of the cost involved. New badges for the department, he said, would cost approximately $25,000, according to estimates. A change was being considered because of the number of stars that had been lost in recent years and which might have found their way into unauthorized hands for a variety of uses.
