

MAYOR WILL UNVEIL MODEL OF POLICE, FIRE SCHOOL TODAY

(Picture on back page)

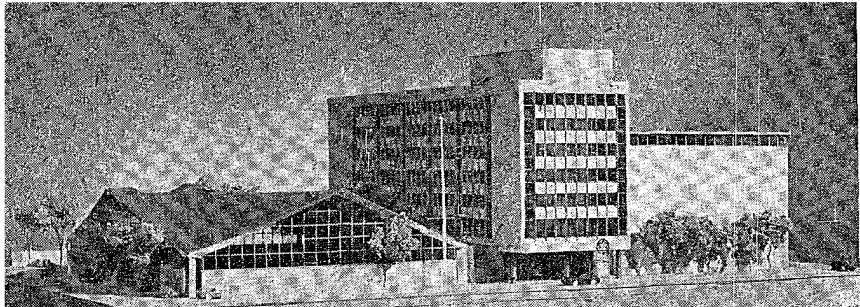

A scale model of Chicago's proposed fire and police academies will be displayed by Mayor Daley at a meeting today of the Central West Business Council in the Central National bank in Chicago, 728 Roosevelt rd.

It will be the first exhibit of the $3,500,000 structure to be erected in the block bounded by Clinton, Jefferson, DeKoven, and Taylor sts. Construction will commence late this summer on the site of the O'Leary home on DeKoven st., where the great Chicago fire of 1871 had its start.

Each department will be separate and self-contained. The police academy entrance will be on Taylor st.; the fire academy on DeKoven st.

Model of city's new fire and police academy, building to be built at cost of 3½ million dollars in near west side area where the great Chicago fire of 1871 started.

(Story on page 5)

Reproduced with permission of the copyright owner further reproduction prohibited without permission