LeRoy Martin, Superintendent of Police

The Winning Combination

It's no accident that the week between 22 May and 29 May has been officially designated as "BUCKLE UP AMERICA" week. Memorial Day has traditionally marked the start of summer vacation travel in the United States. In 1988, 443 people were killed in traffic accidents during the Memorial Day weekend. If your plans do not include any long distance driving, consider this fact; two-thirds of all traffic fatalities occur within 25 miles of home. During this time we encourage all Department members and their families to use safety belts and to buckle children into child safety seats. "BUCKLE UP, AMERICA!"
